Utah State University

Utah State University, founded in 1888, is a prestigious institution, sure of its identity and proud of its reputation for innovative teaching. USU reflects the outlooks and attitudes of the people who attend. Contemporary views among students, faculty, and staff mix with traditional opinions.

A beautiful, well-kept campus in Logan, Utah, USU includes more than 100 buildings located on 400 acres. An additional 7,000 acres used for agricultural and other research programs is located throughout the state.

The importance of the individual is the focus at USU. Additional impetus is always being given to individualizing the baccalaureate degree. This is a system by which the individual can pattern his program within university policy and progress at his speed.

USU has a three-fold purpose: teaching, research and extension. USU also cooperates with various agencies on a national and international level to help promote understanding and share knowledge.

With a studentbody of 15,572 - 85% of them undergraduates - USU has advantages of both the large and small schools, with such features as a spacious library, excellent laboratories and top-rated cultural attractions. These advantages are combined with individualized programs characterized by close personal attention.

The studentbody represents every county in Utah, all 50 states and 90 foreign countries. The majority of these students (80%) live on or near campus.

Housing accommodations, both on and off campus, are available in many different forms. The student may choose to live on-campus in an apartment-style residence hall. Off-campus living accommodations range from studio apartments to four-bedroom apartments to private houses.

The University was founded as a part of the public education system of Utah and operates under the constitution and laws of the state. It belongs to a great family of institutions known as land-grant universities, which had their origin in 1862. A rich curriculum is offered in the arts and sciences, in both undergraduate and graduate programs. Degrees granted include the Bachelor's and Master's degrees, Doctor of Education (EdD) and Doctor of Philosophy (PhD).

USU includes eight resident colleges with 45 departments, a School of Graduate Studies, University Extension and research programs. There are also current programs in education aid to several foreign countries.

The USU campus is situated on a bench that was once the shore of prehistoric Lake Bonneville. It is located at the north end of the state in Logan, which is the county seat of Cache County (which has a population of about 70,000). Logan (34,000 population) offers a wide array of shops, services and other amenities that complement the University.

Northern Utah's dry and sunny summers and falls allow students to enjoy the many outstanding recreation opportunities that are available. The list includes mountain biking, sailboarding, rock climbing, waterskiing, hiking and camping. Winters on the valley floor are relatively mild although the surrounding mountains receive plenty of snow for cross-country and downhill skiing - just a 30 minute drive up Logan Canyon.

On the Cover: Aggie junior guard Kendall Youngblood, a two-year starter with two more seasons remaining in the program, is featured over a scene from last year's thrilling Utah State-Nevada Las Vegas game in the Dee Glen Smith Spectrum. Youngblood is one of the finest athletes in the Big West Conference and he is USU's candidate for post-season honors.
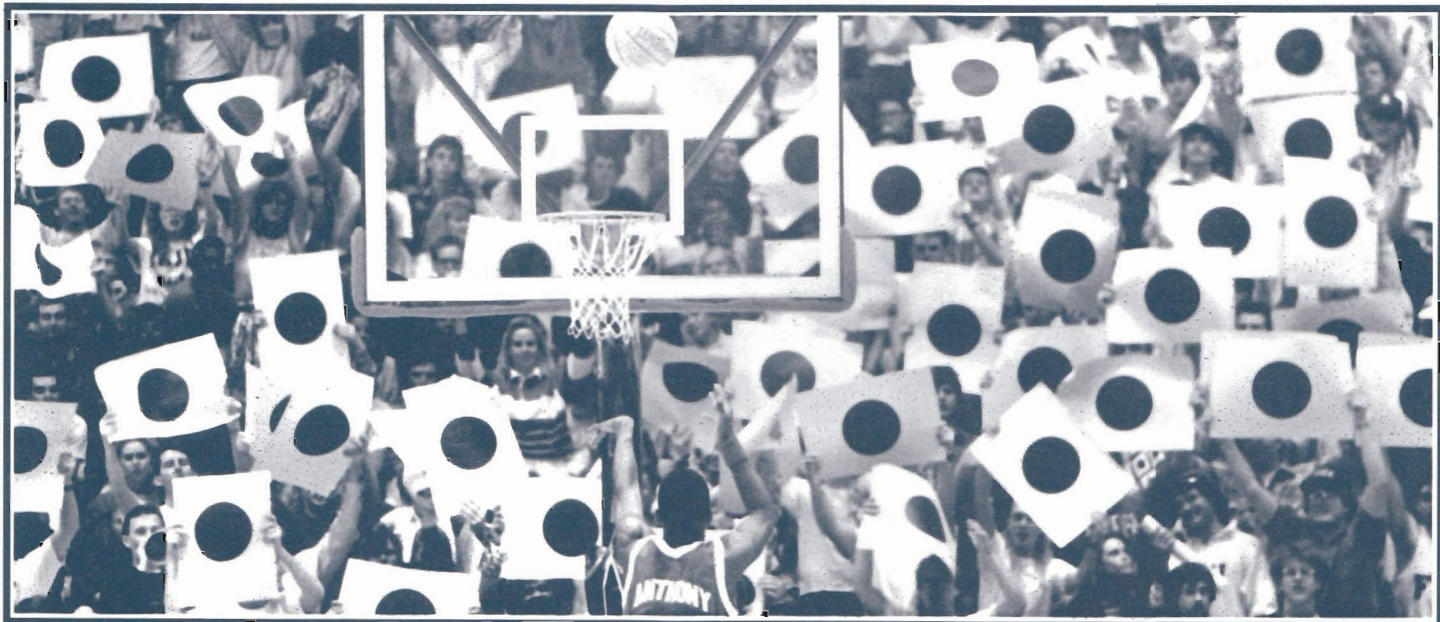

Outlook

There seems little question Utah State basketball will be improved in 1990-91, Kohn Smith's third year as head coach. The Ags are coming off 12-16 and 14-16 records the past two years.

However, that "improvement" tag might apply to much of the Big West Conference as well. The Ags' progress the past two years has certainly been paralleled by that of the league in general, topped by UNLV's resounding victory in the national championship game.

Already one of the league's better shooting teams, the Aggies feel they will be better because of: 1) improvement in that offensive category, 2) quality depth which may take them nine or 10 men deep, 3) the number of experienced athletes returning and 4) the intangibles, such as a strong "chemistry" which became apparent during early-season drills.

The Aggies — after last year's fifth place league finish — return four of five starters. (6-6 Darrel White is gone.) So experience is available. And the depth is improving...for at least two reasons: point guard candidate Jay Goodman — the Iowa State transfer — becomes eligible and a group of newcomers led by freshman Eric Franson is talented enough to make a difference.

Of course, the Aggie talent parade is led by 6-4 junior Kendall Youngblood, a fulltime starter his first two years in college basketball, and a second team all-Big West choice last year. He was the team's top scorer (15.4 ppg), he was the only Aggie in the starting lineup all 30 games last winter, and he enjoyed the seventh most productive season by a sophomore in USU history. Youngblood two years ago was the Big West "Freshman of the Year."
And, he is versatile. Over two seasons Kendall has played the point guard spot (most of his freshman year) plus he is accomplished at both the "2" and "3" positions. He was last year's "Cec" Baker Award recipient as the team's MVP.

"Both Kendall and I know that we can't be content with what he has accomplished his first two years," said Smith. "I expect a lot of him; I'm sure I'll demand more of him than I might of some others."

The other USU principles in 1990-91:

Rich Jardine (6-8, Sr., #2 scorer at 11.8 ppg; starter in 20 of 30 games; named "Most Improved Player" last year; an accomplished long-range shooter; was the scoring leader for part of the early season).

Randy Funk (6-7, Sr., #3 scorer at 11.4 ppg; #1 rebounder at 6.5 rpg; #1 FG% at 56%; rugged inside player whose rebounding late in the year was particularly effective; was named the Ags' "Mr. Hustle").

Allen Gordon (6-0, Sr., avg. 7.2 ppg and was team leader in assists [121] and steals [51]; starter at point guard in 19 of 28 games; became a more confident and effective floor leader as the year wore on and his assists-to-turnovers ratio late in the year was exceptional).

Jeff Parris (6-8, Sr., avg. 6.6 pts. and 5.1 RBs a game; rugged inside player know for his strong defense and rebounding; "Top Defensive Player" award winner last year for the Aggies; starter in 17 of 29 games; fouled out 6 times).

Parris was injured during an early-September pickup game and subsequent knee surgery is expected to keep him out of game action until sometime in December.

The Aggies should get help from backup guard Matt Barnes plus last year's two freshman reserves: 6-6 Gary Patterson and 6-4 Brent Lofton. Barnes appeared in all but two games last year.

Outlook

Last year's walk-on Roger Daley, at 6-7, is another physically talented inside player who appeared only briefly (13 games) but had some effective moments. He was the Big West Conference champion in the discus during the spring at the league Track and Field Championships at UNLV.

Among the newcomers, the 6-7 freshman Franson appears to be talented enough to fit in quickly. With 27 points he was the best player on the floor when he led the Utah high school all-stars to a win over the touring Russian Junior National team during the spring in Salt Lake City. He averaged 27.1 points a game last year at Utah's American Fork High School. Others to watch: Bryon Ruffner (6-6, Timpview High, Orem, UT) and Charlie Sager (6-10, South Grand Prairie High in Texas).

It has become an Aggie tradition to hurry the ball upcourt quickly and the 1990-91 team should be a very good uptempo team. And, again, coaches expect this will be a better shooting team than a year ago.

Smith said he will continue to emphasize better ballhandling; Goodman's addition will help there. And a heavy off-season push to improve overall team strength is apparently paying off. Upgrading the rebounding is another one of Coach Smith's targets.

So much depends on 1) the team staying injury-free, 2) coaches receiving big years from key players and a good season of play from others and 3) developing an adequate inside game and solid help from the bench.

"I have a lot to be optimistic about," said Smith. "I was happy with a lot of what happened last year and the improvement this team made. It is a real advantage to return all the athletes who spent a season with us last year.
Rich Jardine

"Remember, we took the eventual national champions (UNLV) to a two-point game near the end of the year. This season we're just planning to build on that improvement."

Media Information

Working Credentials

Requests for photo passes, credentials and seating in the Smith Spectrum pressbox should be made in advance to insure your accomodations in covering USU's Aggies at home. Contact SID Craig Hislop (801/750-1361).

Pressbox

The Smith Spectrum pressbox is for members of the working press and admittance is limited to valid news media and pressbox personnel. Play-by-play summaries, halftime stats and final team and individual stats will be provided to all members of the media. Four courtesy telephones are available for use and are available to all media on a first come, first served basis. High speed fax service is available upon request and is a complimentary service provided by the USU Sports Information Bureau.

Interviews

Interviews with players and coaches are possible 10 minutes following all games in the Smith Spectrum. Your cooperation is requested in maintaining a working atmosphere in the interview area at all times. Those seeking to interview Aggie personnel at a practice session or other times during the early-week, are asked to work through the Sports Information Office.

USU Sports Radio Network

Bob Appuhn and former USU basketball squadmember Steve Skinner are teamed for a third year of broadcasts on the Utah State Sports Radio Network. Appuhn handles the play-by-play description while Skinner serves as analyst. The last two seasons Aggie game broadcasts have been heard by more people than at any other time in the school's history. The broadcasts are delivered via satellite to radio stations in four states as well as thousands of private satellite dishes across the country.

Among the stations expected to participate on the network are KVNU and KVFM (Logan), KBXQ (Tremonton), KTKK (Salt Lake City), KSVC (Richfield), KUTA (Blanding), KNEU (Roosevelt-Vernal), KSGI (St. George) and KVSI (Montpelier, ID).

Network activities also include daily sports updates on the Aggie hotline and a weekly (Tuesday evening) sports call-in program at 1-800-47-STATE. Network President is Stephen W. Skinner.

The Aggies on Channel 4 (KTVX)

Steve Brown and Lou Hudson are once again paired as the broadcast team for Aggie telecasts on Salt Lake City's KTVX (Channel 4). Hudson, an all-America honoree at the University of Minnesota, enjoyed a brilliant career in the NBA. He now lives in Park City, Utah.

Steve Brown

Brown, also a USU graduate, is Sports Director at KTVX. Channel 4's coverage of the Aggies is expected to include three games, possibly a blend of the Aggies' pre-season (in-state) games and a sampling of action in the Big West Conference.

It has been nearly 30 years since Cornell Green left Utah State for the NFL (Dallas Cowboys) after distinguishing himself as one of the school's greatest basketball players ever...Green, at 6-4, eventually became a regular all-pro selection as a safety-cornerback...Kendall Youngblood is one of the few Aggies during the ensuing decades who has been blessed with the athletic skills to make such a sport-to-sport transition...recruited out of Ogden's Bonneville High School as much for his football-playing ability as for his advanced skills on the basketball court, he chose USU (and basketball)...and he didn't miss a beat, joining the Ags and becoming an immediate starter his freshman year...and, as a sophomore last year, he was the only Aggie basketball player to take the court as a starter in all 30 games...obviously has reached a skill level which qualifies him as one of the best athletes in what is widely regarded as one of the most "athletic" basketball conferences: the Big West...and he still has two seasons to play... Kendall has shown, since his arrival in Logan, a dogged determination to improve what he perceives as the weaker parts of his game...he worked extremely hard during the summer on his three-point shooting and shots off of the dribble... certainly the best athlete on a deeper, improved, more versatile Aggie team ...the Big West Conference "Freshman of the Year" following the 1988-89 season, he was chosen second team all-league last year following a distinguished sophomore season...his 15.4 ppg scoring average led the Aggies and it was the seventh best year by an Aggie sophomore in school history...shot the ball well (49% from the floor, 78% from the line) and was one of the team's top rebounders (4.9 a game)...has now started in 57 of 58 possible games... was the leading scorer in 13 of last year's 30 games...was in double figures 26 of 30 games last year...he finished with 12 straight games in double figures and an average of nearly 19.0 ppg over the final fourth of the season...says his best game at Utah State was last year's 79-77 win over Utah in Logan when he scored 27 points and grabbed 9 rebounds...as an Aggie freshman he averaged 11 points and 4.5 rebounds a game, shooting 53.8% from the floor and 69.2% from the free throw line...he was the team's assist leader his first year with 113 as he was often called upon to serve as the team's point guard (quite a change for a onetime high school center and power forward)...has registered his scoring in double figures in 44 of his 58 games...a consensus all-state selection in both football and basketball at Bonneville High in Ogden...led the Lakers to the state basketball championship as a junior and was named the state's 4A MVP...Kendall's final two years the Lakers were 18-5 and 15-5...he once scored 36 points and had 20 rebounds against Davis... as a senior he was named the state's Gatorade 4A "Athlete of the Year" for his accomplishments in both basketball and football (he played running back and safety)...he averaged 20 points a game both his junior and senior years; as a senior he pulled off 14 rebounds a game while shooting 53% from the floor and 75% from the line...son of Burdett and Pat Youngblood.

Rich Jardine

Rich Jardine has a reputation in the game for shooting and mobility, more so than strength...but an intense off-season weight training program has made the Aggies' number two scorer much stronger than he was last season at USU when he was fresh off the Dixie College campus...Rich was one of the Ags' top offensive threats last year and during the post-season team banquet was named USU's "Most Improved"...is USU's starter at the "#3" or wing spot.....started in 20 of the team's 30 games last year ...is a deadeye corner jump shooter and he is adept as a baseline dribble driver...has a very, very good first step to the basket...he hit 50% of his shots a year ago to rank behind Randy Funk in FG percentage...runs the floor very well...led Aggie scoring early in the year and wound up averaging 11.8 ppg, second to Kendall Youngblood...connected on 53% of his shots the final 14 games of the season...his top games last year: 22 points and 6 rebounds against CSUF in Logan and 17 points, 8 rebounds at UNLV... before USU he played at both Dixie High and Dixie Junior College...also played for Frank Arnold at Hawaii where he was a starter in about half the games for the Rainbows (1985-86) and he averaged about 5.0 points and 2.5 rebounds a game...averaged 10.5 ppg and 4.5 rebounds a game in junior college, helping Ken Wagner's team to a 28-6 record and a berth in the Region 18 tournament... scored 34 points against Utah Valley Commmunity College...an all-stater for Mark Poth's 17-7 Dixie High team, the Flyers finishing third in the state ...he averaged 21.0 ppg, 10.1 rpg, 55% shooting from the floor and 76% from the line (his prep career high was 30 against Delta)...served a church mission to Boston...married to the former Paula Anne Gray...son of Don and Mona Jardine.

USU's "Mr. Hustle" award winner at last year's basketball awards banquet was Randy Funk... it was that "work ethic" approach which, among other things, helped him become the team's third leading scorer and possibly the most efficient of the Ags the final four or five games of last season...he averaged 14 points and 10 rebounds a game and shot 56% from the floor in that stretch...he wound up leading the Aggies in shooting (56%) and rebounding (6.5)...was a starting inside player in 26 of the team's 30 games and was in double figures in 20 games, including each of the first 12...scored his Aggie career high (22) against Weber State and he recorded a 21-point game against BYU... definitely an inside performer whose moves are difficult to defend...also, not a bad medium range jump shooter...now weighs 225 pounds, knowing full well the extra size and strength will serve him nicely... generally is obligated to defend athletes bigger than he is...a hardnosed, competitive type who fits extremely well into Kohn Smith's "team" concept of basketball...has excellent court speed, runs the floor well... coaches say a"consistent" season is what they need from Randy in his final year...redshirted the 1988-89 year which followed his JC career at both Ricks JC and Utah Valley Community College... Duke Reid's UVCC team of 1987-88 finished 22-10 and Randy averaged 16 points and 9 rebounds that year... he attended Ricks JC (averaging 12 points a game) before departing on a church mission to South Korea...a Cache Valley native, he was all-region and all-state for coach John Nielsen's Mt. Crest Mustangs, averaging 29 points a game in 1984...married to the former Markae Perret and they have one son, Bracken, 1...he is one of eight children of Randall and Gerri Funk and his brother, Brian, plays offensive tackle for the Aggie football team.

Utah State's most experienced point guard in terms of minutes played (657 in 28 games last year), Allen was a starter in 19 of those 28 appearances...accurately described as an instinctive, "urban" type player who learned his game on the playgrounds of Chicago...a slasher, penetrator-type with an explosive, quick step to the basket...came to the Aggies last year from Northwest Community College in Powell, Wyoming...he manufactured a fine assists-to-turnovers ratio (121-83) and was one of the Big West leaders with 51 steals...a solid playmaker and that allows the Aggie coaches to shift another point guard — outside shooting specialist Jay Goodman — to frequent duty as a "2" guard, the spot Kendall Youngblood holds most of the time... Allen's ballhandling is also critical in a Big West Conference which includes teams (such as Long Beach State and New Mexico State) who deploy pressure defensive tactics...USU coaches have seen him take over a game as proven by his play at UOP (13 points) and San Jose State (16) in two of the Aggies' four league road wins...when he is in the game Aggie turnovers tend to diminish and he pushes the Aggie tempo up another notch, even to the point he forces "patterned" opponents into a faster game... last year scored 7.2 points a game but his offense took a noticeable leap the final third of the season when he climbed into double figures in 6 of the final 8 games (including the career high 16 at San Jose State)...once was a member of the Long Beach State program (1986-87)...helped NWCC, under Ken Rochlitz, to a 30-7 record as he averaged 12.2 points and shot 55% from the floor...earlier, he starred at highly acclaimed Simeon Vocational High in Chicago, a 29-1 team, and he scored 14.9 a game with 8.0 assists... played on Robert Hambrie's city championship team at Simeon in 1985...son of Allen and Grace Gordon.

Few basketball teams could well endure the loss of a veteran big man and that is why Coach Smith is anxious for Jeff Parris to be able to put an injury behind him and return to his playing form of a year ago...during an early-September pickup game he injured his knee (dislocated kneecap) and subsequent surgery was performed to tighten ligaments in the knee and remove bone chips...an early-December return to game action was forecast following the surgery...a transfer to the Aggies a year ago from Cerritos College, he quickly proved himself by being named "Top Defensive Player" at USU's post-season honors banquet ...a solid rebounder...Jeff was recruited at the time to fill the void left in the Aggie attack by graduations following the 1988-89 season...a team weakness the Aggies are intent upon improving is rebounding and that will require a healthy Jeff Parris...Jeff was a starter in 17 of 30 games last year but spent the final quarter of the year coming off the bench...he averaged 6.6 points and 5.1 rebounds a game and scored his Aggie career high with 15 against Cal State Fullerton....he has had some struggles, physically, considering the recent knee surgery and another surgical procedure last spring following the 1989-90 season ...the Aggies are working to help Jeff become more of an inside power threat..before USU, he helped Cerritos Junior College to the state JC championship where he was named all-tournament, scoring 22 points against El Camino...he helped Jack Bogdanovich's team to a 31-4 record, averaging 10 points and 7 rebounds... Jeff was MVP for Roger Williams' LaMirada High team both his junior and senior years and he averaged 18 points and 12 rebounds a game his final season...he then attended the University of Portland before transferring to Cerritos...one of four children of John and Judy Parris.

Matt Barnes is a shooter and his success as a senior will be determined in good part by how well he does at that specialty...his athletic history is one of success in the offensive side of the game...is penciled in as a "number two" guard in the Aggie scheme ...last year, his first at Utah State, his role was altered with the injuries to Albert Chappell and Allen Gordon as he was asked to handle more "point guard" assignments...as a junior he appeared in 28 of the season's 30 games, averaging about 17 minutes an appearance...was a starter in 11 of those games including nine of the season's first 12 games and then the final two (the regular season finale against UC-Irvine and the Big West Tournament game with Long Beach State) ...scored his Aggie career high (13 points) in his first starting assignment: it was the second game of the year and it was against the BYU Cougars...hit 5-of-9 shots that night and it would turn out to be one of his two best shooting performances of the season...as Gordon's point guard backup down the stretch, he did generate a 12-point outburst at San Jose State (canning all four of his three-point shots)...he hit 9-of-10 FTs vs.

George Washington at the Maui Classic...came to the Aggies before last season from Salt Lake Community College...has an "unsinkable" and enthusiastic attitude, which is infectious...at SLCC he averaged 18 points, five assists and five steals a game, shooting 55% from the floor and 87% from the line...under coach Max Lloyd, he helped the Bruins to records of 25-7 and 19-11...played for Ron Huber at Olympus High (second-team all-state guard) on a 16-9 team ...at Olympus he averaged 15 points, 8.1 assists and 4.0 steals a game, twice earning season MVP awards... once scored 28 vs. Bountiful and he had 11 assists and 6 steals in that game...one of three children of Lee and Evelyn Barnes.

How often, in major college basketball, does a non-recruited "walk on" player, 1) make the team and 2) earn a full-ride scholarship the following year?...it is rare, but so is this second year big man...Roger came to USU to concentrate on track and field, but decided first to give basketball a try...he was successful in that decision — enjoying a fine hoop season last winter — then he completed the scenario in Las Vegas last spring by becoming the Big West Conference discus champion ...as evidenced by the discus title, he has the physical strength to compete in major college basketball...a good player who became somewhat of a strong armed "enforcer" type during his appearances in 13 games last season...among his best performances a year ago were his five points and five rebounds at San Jose State and the six points he scored at Long Beach State...a very good jumper who the coaches hope will lend a needed boost in rebounding this year...he totalled 11 blocked shots in just 72 minutes of play last year and that is remarkable...before arriving at USU, he was also a double sport man (track and basketball) at Ricks (Idaho) Junior College where he played forward and center for Gary Gardner...the Vikings were 12-15...while his hometown is Craig, Alaska, Roger played high school basketball at Mountain View High in Bend, Oregon...he averaged 14.3 points and 12.5 rebounds and 5.0 blocked shots a game, shooting 50% from the floor and 56% from the line ...the Cougars, coached by Jack Lutz, posted a 20-5 record and finished first in the Intermountain Conference, in the school's first year of existence...he established most of the Mountain View rebounding records which were later broken by his brother, Neal, who will play at BYU following a church mission...Roger is one of 13 children of Douglas and Gwenda Daley...he is married to the former Brenda Bowman.

Jay, one of the newest Ags, isn't new at all, having redshirted last year after his transfer from Iowa State ...a strong candidate, though just a sophomore, to become the starter at point guard... a natural leader and he hates to lose ...he is adept as a shooter in a variety of situations...should be the Ags' most consistent three-point shooting threat ...he is extremely coachable, he is versatile in filling the role as a ball handler, he's quick and he has "zonebuster" shooting potential... coaches expect his performance will become one of the most immediate factors in USU's improvement as a team ...his father captained the Iowa State teams of the late-1960s and his brother (Tom) played at William Jewell College in Missouri...Jay was one of Iowa's best as a high school senior, averaging 25.6 ppg, 7.0 assists, shooting 58% from the floor and 83% from the line...scored 36 points against Cedar Rapids Kennedy in the state championship game for his Ft. Dodge High team coached by his dad...Jay was named first team all-state...in 1988-89 he was a non-scholarship walk-on at Iowa State but made quite a splash during December of that year...when the Cyclones played UC-Santa Barbara in the Kactus Klassic in Tempe he buried 9-of-10 shots (5-of-6 three pointers) and scored 23 points... that earned him a starting job and he responded next time out with 12 points in a 99-73 win over USF as Iowa State won the consolation title and Goodman was named all-tournament ...in all, he started three games that year but his playing time diminished later (19 games, 7.6 minutes a game for the season) and he decided to leave Iowa State for USU when the Cyclones did not offer him a scholarship and USU did...wants someday to get into collegiate athletics as an SID, an extremely worthy life's ambition... one of two sons of Tom and Connie Goodman.

Possibly no one — Brent included — knows how successful he can be in major college basketball, but this sophomore season will go a long way in making that determination...a big guard candidate for the Aggies... he was a highly advertised freshman last year and appeared in about two-thirds of USU's games (23 of 30) and averaged just over seven minutes a game in those... he appeared in 11 of last year's first 13 games, then in five of the next 10, prior to appearances in each of the final seven games of the season...six points against Colorado in the Maui Tournament and five rebounds against Long Beach State are his career bests...a spot player for the Aggies in 1989-90, he and Gary Patterson were the Ags' only freshmen a year ago... he was the LA City 3A "Player of the Year", earning that honor while playing for Mike McNulty at El Camino High (Woodland Hills area)...he averaged 23.4 points and 11.2 rebounds as a senior at El Camino ...he was the first El Camino player ever chosen 3A Player of the Year...in the city playoffs, El Camino eliminated Lincoln and Jefferson high schools prior to a three-point loss in the semifinals to eventual city champion, Fremont...he scored 89 points and cornered 50 rebounds in the three playoff games...his 38 points and 16 rebounds against Fremont were his career bests...he was both a guard and forward at El Camino...the Conquistadores won the West Valley regular season championship...Brent is the son of Bertha and James Lofton.

Gary Patterson

A year ago — right out of high school — it took Gary two weeks into pre-season drills to establish himself as the Ags' "sixth man" and that is unusual for a freshman...then, when he suffered double quad muscle pulls in his legs, his progress was thwarted severely... later he was involved in the head butting incident which led to the well-publicized fracas following the Aggie game at UNLV and that required stitches to his head...it wasn't the kind of season for Patterson that he appeared headed for after the first few weeks of practice...but, he did appear in 21 of 30 games and he averaged about nine minutes a game...his top games came against Colorado in the Maui Tournament (10 pts.) and against Long Beach State (8 pts., 5 rebs.) at the Big West tournament ...he dedicated his summer to his weight training program and playing in two summer basketball leagues in the Seattle area.. a hard-nosed, all-around, defensive oriented athlete, he is versatile, a good passer and knows now the difference between a good shot and a bad one...it all makes Gary a viable challenger for Rich Jardine's starting spot at the Aggies' #3 (small forward) position...was a first-team all-state selection and an honorable mention all-American while playing for Jerry Koester"s Redmond High Mustangs... they were 74-13 in the three years he was a starter and topped off the last two with consecutive state titles... Redmond wound up 26-4 his senior year and won the state championship with a 59-50 victory over Seattle's Garfield High...he once scored 27 against Kentridge High in a state semifinal game and he averaged 14.5 points and 7.0 rebounds as a senior... was a starter in the AAU-Soviet game, which his all-star team won...he was rated his high school team's top defensive player for three years running...one of three children of Jack and Cathy Patterson and he spent part of his boyhood in Salt Lake City.

Todd Gentry

It was 1986 and — in Utah's high school athletic circles — general consensus that year had it that the state's most recruited prep basketball player was Mountain View's Todd Gentry...he eventually signed a national letter of intent to attend BYU, attended one semester and then left on a church mission to Pennsylvania, returning to school in Provo in time for the 1989-90 season at BYU...as a backup guard on the Cougars' 21-9 team last year he played in 26 games (154 minutes) and scored 18 points...ironically, his career high came November 30 against the Aggies in Logan when he scored six and BYU won, 71-65...with Todd's decision to transfer to USU, he will sit out the 1990-91 season and then retain three years of collegiate eligibility with the Aggies...USU's coaches regard him as an excellent defensive player...has a nice shooting touch and he should be good for the Aggies in that he is a big, versatile athlete and an ideal candidate for the "big guard" position...but, he is also capable of filling in at small forward...he will use his year at USU to become stronger in preparation for play in the Big West Conference ...playing as a guard and small forward at Mountain View for former Logan High coach Joel Gardner he was named an honorable mention Converse all-America and a nominee for the McDonald's all-America team... he once scored 25 points, pulled down 10 rebounds and had 6 steals against Brighton High...earned both all-state and all-region honors in basketball and he was an academic all-America winner in baseball...he averaged 20 points and 7 rebounds a game at Mountain View...he was recruited by Pepperdine, Hawaii, BYU, Washington State, the Aggies and Dartmouth... Todd was married in April to the former Susan Madsen...he hopes to establish a practice in sports medicine after graduating with a degree in Physical Therapy...he is one of five children of Robert and Marilyn Gentry.

Utah State University basketball fans will remember back to the 1987-88 season — the Ags' 21-10 year when they were conference tournament champs and NCAA entrants — for their first recollection of this student-athlete...Darren came to the Aggies as a highly regarded Idaho high school star but did not play that season (he was redshirted) and that means he is still a freshman and retains four years of collegiate eligibility...following that season he left on a church mission (to Spain) and he is now a member in good standing of the 1990-91 Aggies...the most obvious feature of his game: a very good shooting touch...strength and stamina are phases he will have to improve... he has a well-founded knowledge of the game and is willing to be part of the team concept and work to improve...at 6-7 he brings a height advantage to the "wing" position, which is where he will play...is a good student and is very coachable...a first team all-stater for Mike Jorgensen at Idaho Falls Bonneville High (the Bees were 20-6 his senior year)...he was a center and forward there and averaged 19 points and 11.2 rebounds a game and was a 53% shooter...he once scored 30 points and pulled down 14 rebounds in a game against Rigby High...Darren was named the MVP in the Gem State Conference (which Bonneville won)...he later appeared in the Idaho All-Staters all-star game in Boise...also doubled as a high jumper in track, was the Bonneville High Studentbody President and he earned academic all-state honors for his 3.87 high school grade point average...is one of seven children of Dixie and Ronald G. Johnson (his dad played for two years at Ricks JC and a brother, Brett, played at Ricks and at Salt Lake Community College).

Freshman basketball players seldom position themselves for extensive playing time on the major college level the way this young man has already at USU...certainly has proven he has the best chance of any Aggie freshman in years to become an "impact" player...he works very hard for everything he gets...would not be considered particularly fast or quick, but he runs the floor with determination and he always seems to be in position to make things happen...as a high school standout he proved himself to be an all-around talent; solid as a rebounder and defender and he doesn't seem intimidated by the college level playing intensity...spent a fruitful off-season in the sport looking for games wherever he could find them...long after he had signed his national letter of intent to attend Utah State, Eric earned even more attention with his play for a Utah High School all-star team against the touring Soviet Junior National team...in that game he scored 27 points on short jumpers, inside power moves and early offense chances... he usually scores what might be called "blue collar" baskets...he averaged 28 points and 11 rebounds a game at American Fork High, shooting 65% from the floor and 80% from the line...in the region championship game he scored 42 points and grabbed 18 rebounds against Provo... was a two year all-state selection, first team...when he made his decision to attend USU, his high school coach (Bob Eckles, USU graduate) called him "...a finesse shooter with a surprising touch for someone his size..."...is a very good passer with "soft hands" who seldom makes ballhandling errors...has learned using his size, to set an effective screen...a National Merit finalist in math...has lived in Virginia, Utah, Arizona, Colorado, and Nevada but was born in Logan...one of five children of Jay and Gwyn Franson.

None of USU's three new freshmen seem content simply to be members of a major college basketball team and that certainly holds true for Ruffner who arrived at Utah State in the fall following what obviously was a summer of preparation for this opportunity...reported to the Aggies in excellent physical condition...proved in early drills he is a hard-nosed competitor who is planning to play in his first season...primarily a low-post player as a high school junior, he spent his senior year and the ensuing summer working on moves facing the basket...is very active and difficult to defend... will play a baseline position with his jumping and driving ability and might even be called upon to help some under the basket, depending on the status of veteran Jeff Parris following knee surgery...a very fundamentally sound athlete... enjoyed a brilliant career for Don Chamberlain at Timpview High where the Thunderbirds compiled a 73-13 record during Bryon's varsity career and won two state championships...Chamberlain described him as a "...finesse player and he is an exceptional outside jump shooter..." as a senior he averaged 25 points and 12 rebounds a game and he was a 60% shooter from the floor, 80% from the free throw line...he scored a career high 37 points and pulled down 15 rebounds against Jordan...he was named to the all-tournament team in a prestigous Las Vegas holiday tournament in December of 1989...was named to Utah's high school all-state teams for two years running...he was a member of the Utah high school all-star bunch which played the touring Soviet Junior National team...hopes to become a physical therapist...one of six children of Paul Alex and Lael Jaenine Ruffner (his dad is a former BYU great and played for the Chicago Bulls in the NBA).

USU's tallest player in 1990-91 is also one of its youngest: 6-10 freshman Charlie Sager... and during the early days of the preseason camp, he proved himself an excellent "touch" shooter for an athlete of his size...runs the floor well ...he's another one of the Ags' new freshmen warriors who didn't plan his first year to be a passive one: he wants to play...his quiet off-the-court demeanor belies a very aggressive streak which is manifest from time-to-time in practice sessions ...is working on developing his "back to the basket" moves and his foot quickness...very intelligent, coachable and personable young man... with his outside shooting ability he has made himself into a solid high and low-post candidate in his first year at USU... his playing status this first season could depend, in part, upon the progress of veteran inside man Jeff Parris, following September knee surgery...was signed to a national letter of intent by the Aggies after playing for Brad Chasteen at South Grand Prairie High School in Grand Prairie, Texas...his senior year the Warriors were an 18-14 team in the powerful 11-5A district which produced state champion Dallas Kimball...he wound up the final two games of district play with outstanding numbers: 55 points and 33 rebounds... said Chasteen: "Charlie has super hands and he is a great passer. He has some very strong offensive skills; he was our best three-point shooter and he shoots with a very soft touch." ...he averaged 18 points and 8 rebounds a game as a senior and he is a very good free throw shooter (80%)...his top high school game: 35 points and 15 rebounds against Dallas Carter High... Charlie was named to the all-district team for three straight years...he brings an exceptional academic back-ground with him: he carried a 4.1 gpa (on a 4.0) scale in high school due to honors work he completed...one of two children of Charles and Paula Sager.

Head Coach

There was no greater boyhood basketball fan of the Aggies than the man who now directs the school's fortunes in the sport.

Kohn Smith, 38, grew up in Cache Valley and realized one of his dreams when he was named the school's 13th head coach late in the 1987-88 season, while serving as an assistant at USU to Rod Tueller.

He had returned to the USU program from the University of Indiana where he had been an assistant coach to Bob Knight.

This is his third year as USU's head coach. He has directed the Aggies to seasons of 12-16 and 14-16.

"Kohn has everything it takes to be a great basketball coach, because he has everything it takes to be a great person."

Those were Coach Knight's words during a speaking engagement in late-September, 1989, in Utah State's Dee Glen Smith Spectrum.

A meaningful testimonial, particularly from the man who was Smith's boss when Kohn was a six-year assistant at IU (1981-87).

The young Aggie head coach will likely tell you his first two years as a collegiate head man were among the most profitable learning experiences of his professional life.

Under Kohn the Aggies have posted Big West Conference records of 10-8 and 8-10.

His first two seasons are somewhat of a departure from what had been an impressive record in college basketball as an assistant coach to Knight and Tueller: seven seasons in the major college game...seven trips to post-season basketball tournaments.

It was Kohn's work with the defense, as an assistant coach in 1987-88, which was instrumental in the Ags winning their first-ever conference tournament championship and the school's first-ever automatic NCAA post-season bid.

From 1983 until he left IU in October of 1987, he was in charge of the Hoosiers' basketball recruiting and he was continually listed in national scouting service bulletins as one of the nation's top recruiters.

He also had extensive on-floor coaching responsibilities, assisting with formulation of game plans, organizing and scheduling of scouting and assisting in the direction of IU's three-week summer basketball camp which involved 1,800 campers and 110 coaches.

In 1985, during IU's around-the-world basketball tour, he actually served as head coach while Coach Knight observed from the stands. The Hoosiers played teams from Canada, Japan, China, Yugoslavia, the USSR, the Netherlands and Finland.

Upon his return to USU to become head coach, there were plenty of questions about his career with Knight at Indiana.

"They want to know what it was like to work for him," says Smith, "Then they asked if I would be like him in my coaching."

Smith does share Knight's passion for the outdoors — hunting and fishing — and they both espouse defense as one of the cornerstones of their shared philosophies of the game.

"I'm not Bobby Knight," he said. "In a lot of ways I'd like to be. But my personality is different. I'm like Coach Knight in that I would like to do a lot of things for college athletics. First, I'm concerned about doing everything I can do to help our players academically, to insure that they have a future after they finish playing college basketball. I'm concerned about rules; about the real integrity of college athletics. In that regard I hope I'm a great deal like him".

"I've been able to learn a great deal technically about the game from coach Knight. We would like to pattern our teams after his great teams. Above all, they really play hard."

And what about his sideline demeanor, relative to Coach Knight?

"I want to be enthusiastic on the sideline," he said. "I want our players to play enthusiastically. We all, at times, get upset. I'm sure there will be times like that. We just can't help but do that when something means so much to us as a game does. I like to think that I'm a coach that can keep pretty good control. If I do get upset, it will be because I am trying to help my team."

And, again, a Kohn Smith basketball philosophy begins with defense.

"We want to try to put as much pressure as we can on the basketball, as far out as we can. We want to play defense as a team. We're basically a man-to-man defensive team; we try to put as much pressure as we can on the opponent.

"Offensively, we're first of all concerned with trying to get the very best shot, whether it's on a fastbreak, secondary break or a set offense."

After getting his start in organized basketball playing for Tueller at Logan High, Kohn went on to earn all-ICAC honors at the College of Eastern Utah (1970-72) and was later named an NAIA Academic All-Amercian and NAIA honorable mention All-American at Southern Utah State College. (1972-74).

In 1974 he was named SUSC's Athlete of the Year, Scholar Athlete Award winner and Outstanding Basketball Player.

He began his coaching career at Idaho's West Side High (1974-79) and Utah's Bear River (1979-81) and had been named to head the Sky View High Program (April, 1981) when he left to join Knight at Indiana.

In both 1977 and 1978 he was named Idaho's A-3 Coach of the Year and he coached West Side to state championships both years.

His overall high school coaching record: 119-42. (He also compiled a 33-16 record as West Side football coach, earning A-3 Coach of the Year honors in that sport in 1976.)

Kohn is a 1974 graduate of Southern Utah State.

He and his wife, Arlene, are the parents of four children: Tricia, Steven, Kelli, and Kristin.

Kohn in the pre-season:

"We have been shooting the ball very well. We have had scrimmages in the 60% shooting range.

"This is our third year running the motion offense and it has really taken hold as an offense our players understand and are able to execute. It's like they say about the game of backgammon: it takes five minutes to learn but a lifetime to know. With the intricacies of it, the motion offense takes a great deal of time to know and run, to execute it correctly.

"When we are in our transition offense we are able to be very effective at times. We like the way this team runs the floor.

"Our defense is ahead of last year, too. That has been an emphasis during drills.

"Our best physical qualities lie in our quickness and ability to run the floor. These kids really like an uptempo, transition type of game. And, now, with some pressure tactice we will be using, we can do a better job of controlling the tempo of our games, possibly make our opponents shoot some quick shots or poor shots."
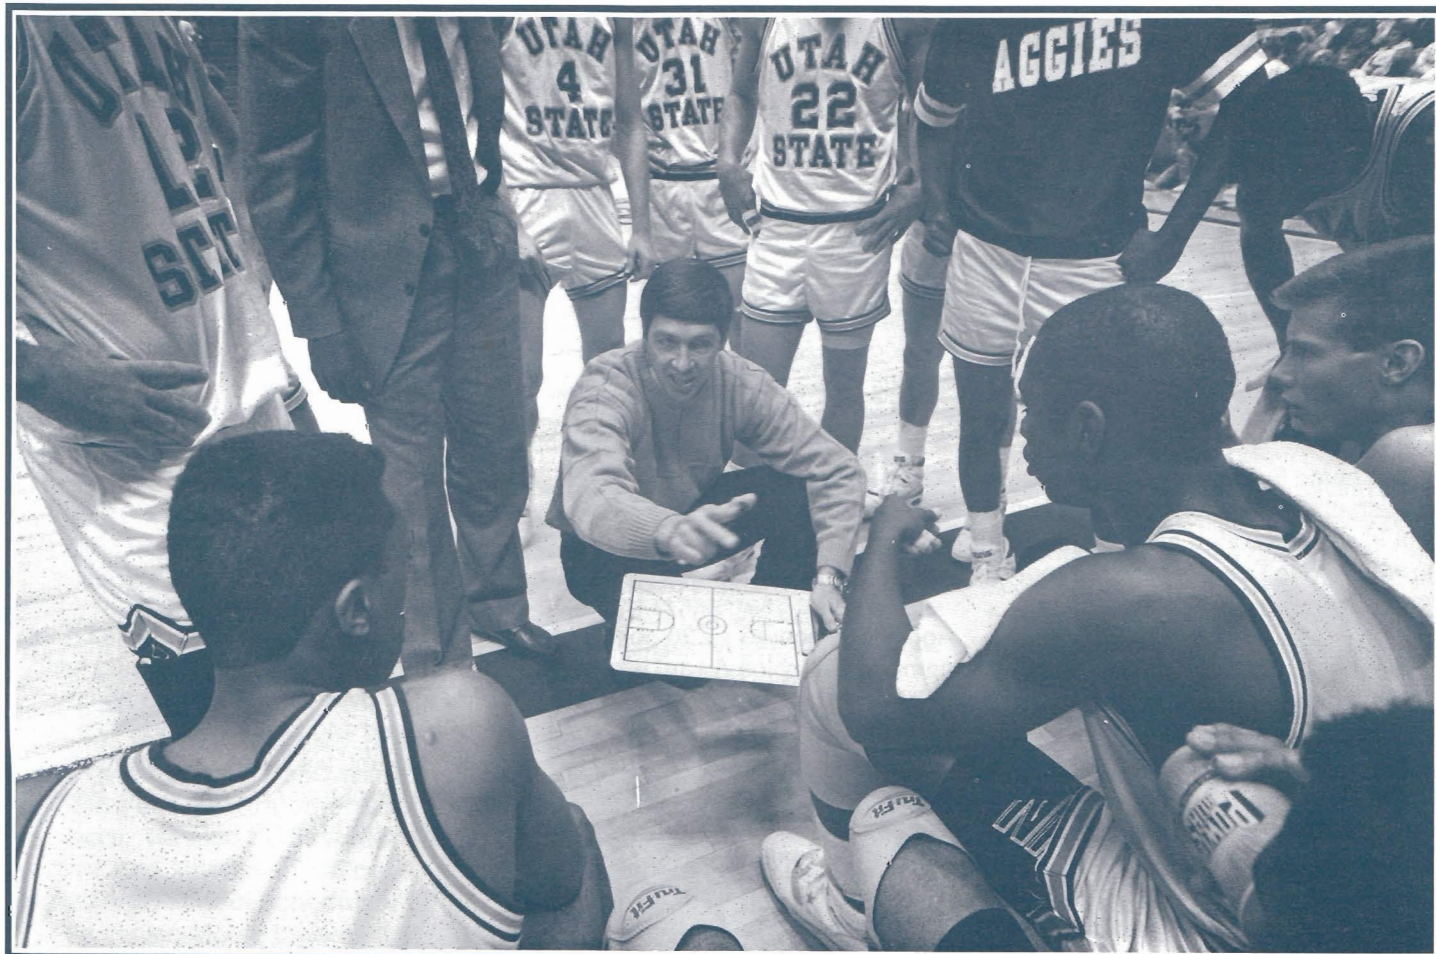

Coaches
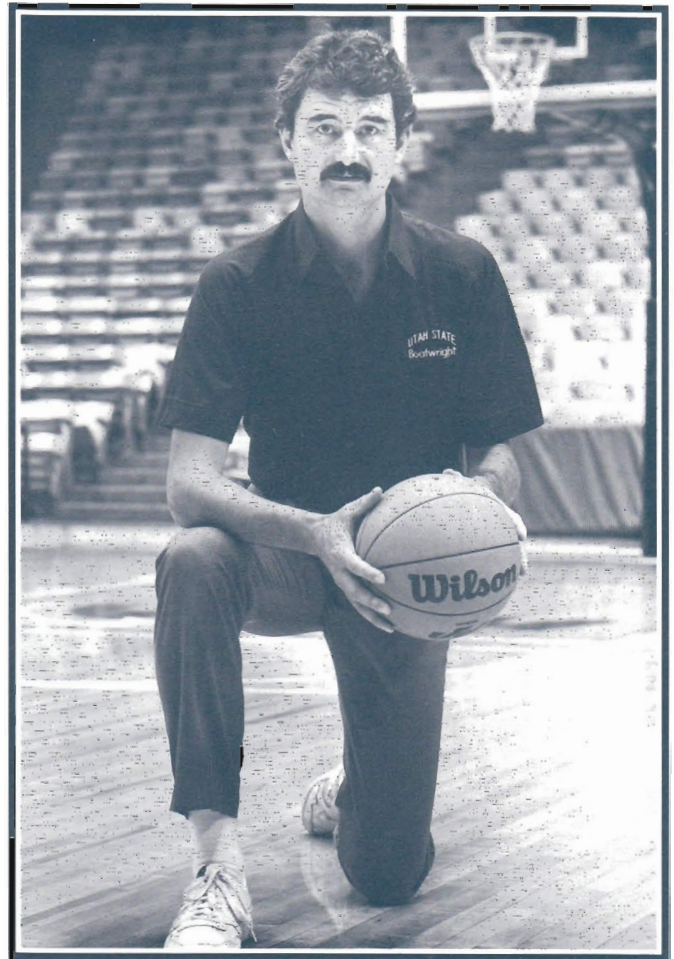

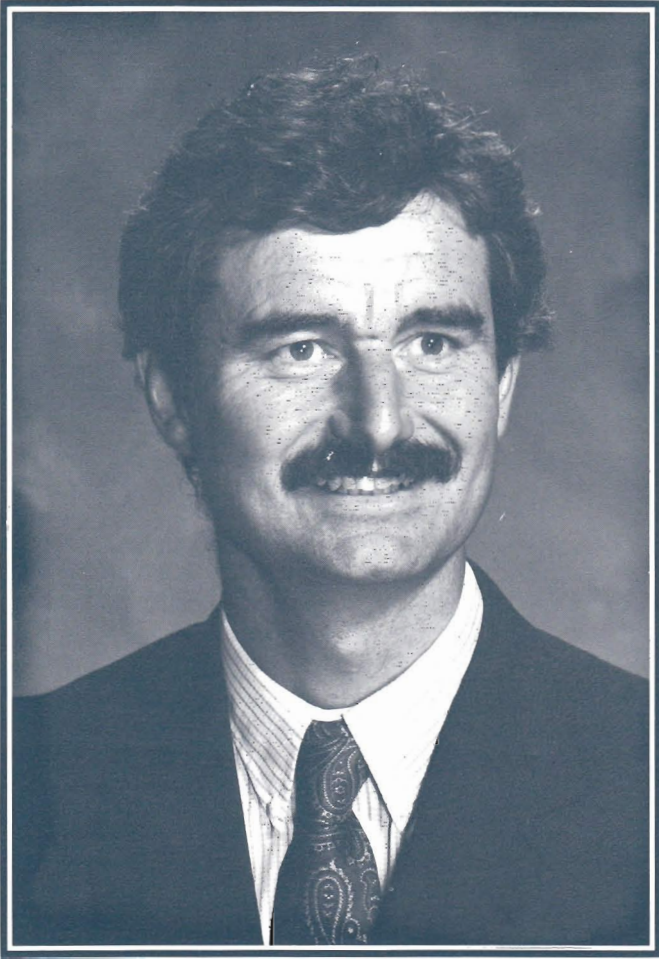

Assistant Coach Jim Boatwright

This is Jim Boatwright's third year as a Utah State assistant coach. But these aren't the first three years he has been involved in Aggie basketball. In fact, the 1990-91 season marks the beginning of his third decade in USU hoops.

Jim came to USU in 1970 on a basketball scholarship and wound up 12th in career scoring at Utah State. He returned to Logan in the summer of 1988 to join Kohn Smith's coaching staff.

Boatwright, 38, followed up a distinguished playing career in college and pro basketball with five years as the head coach at Star Valley High School in Afton, Wyoming. His teams compiled an 89-20 record and won the 1987-88 state high school championship, two region titles plus a state runnerup finish.

He was also a graduate assistant at USU to Rod Tueller in 1982-83, helping the Aggies to an NCAA berth as they faced Iowa in the tournament at Louisville, KY.

"It's a highlight of my playing and coaching career to return to Utah State and to work with Kohn and Jimmy," said Boatwright, a native of Rupert, Idaho.

As a three-year starter for the Aggies, he scored 1,236 points, was named the Robins Award winner as USU's "Athlete of the Year" in 1974 and went on to appear in the Pizza Hut post-season all-star game.

Prior to attending Utah State, Boatwright had an outstanding high school career under Coach Les Roh at Minico High in Rupert, ID and later appeared in the prestigious Dapper Dan High School All-Star game in Pittsburgh, PA.

He was drafted by the Virginia Squires of the ABA but chose to play professionally in Europe. He spent eight years playing for the Macabbi Tel Aviv team in the European Pro Championship League, helping that team to a pair of European titles. Boatwright was chosen to the prestigious European Selective team and in 1980 was named to the Israeli Olympic team.

He has authored two books on the fundamentals of basketball and has logged over 650 hours as a private pilot and 140 hours piloting 747s.

He and his wife Chris are the parents of four children: Kate, Sarah, Daniel and Becky.

Coaches
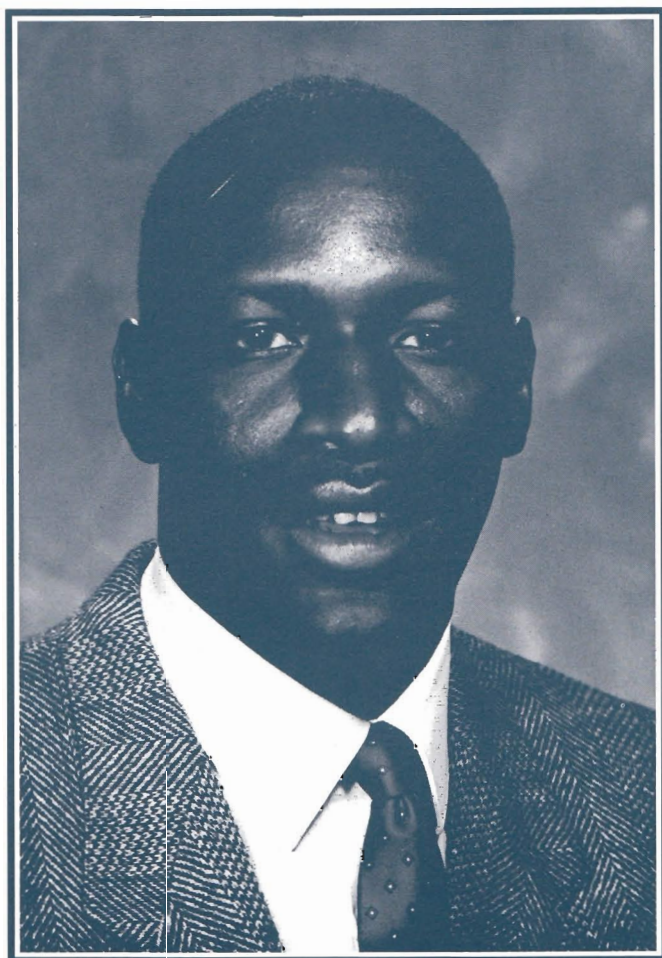

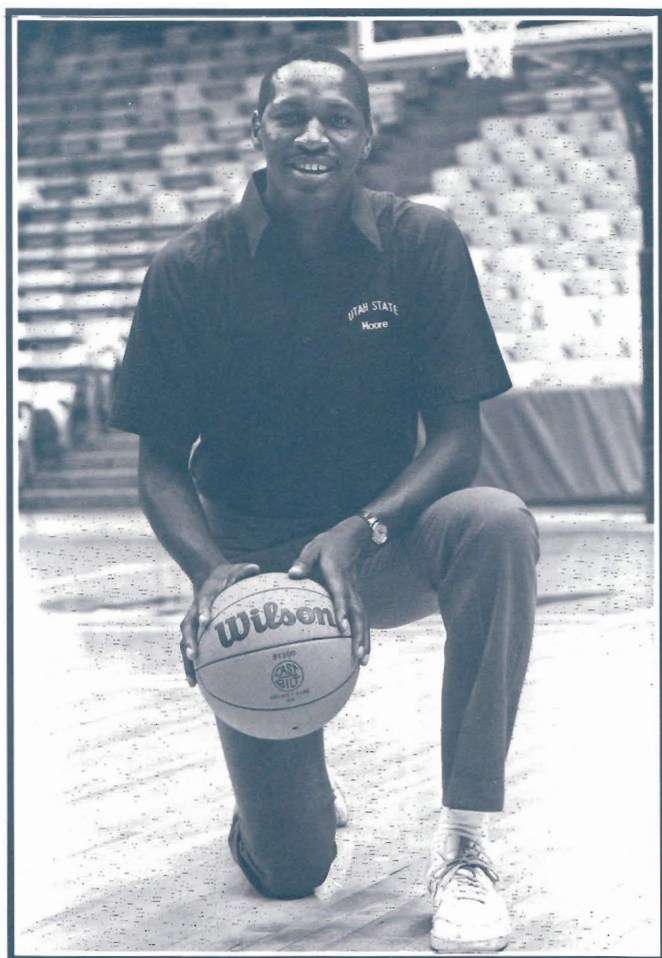

Assistant Coach Jimmy Moore

Like Jim Boatwright, only a hiatus (of 12 years) in European professional basketball was able to keep Jimmy away from his love of USU and the Aggie basketball program. This is his fourth year back in Logan as an Aggie assistant coach.

Moore, 38, joined Rod Tueller's staff as a graduate assistant and was later elevated to full-time status where he remained when Kohn Smith was named head coach. (Tueller was an assistant coach under Dutch Belnap for the Aggies when Moore was a student-athlete.)

Moore tutors the Aggies' power forwards and centers and splits the recruiting efforts with other staff members. He also helps Academic Advisor Ken Mitchell in aiding players with school schedules.

As a player, Moore became the Aggies' 14th best career scorer (1,164 points) in three varsity seasons. With Jimmy as a starter in 71 of his 79 career games, the Aggies went 53-26 and earned an NCAA post-season bid his senior year (1974-75).

The native of Leakesville, Mississippi averaged 19.3 points-a-game as a senior and scored a career high 40 points in a win over Wyoming. He was later selected to play in the East-West All-Star game in Oklahoma and the Pizza Hut Classic in Las Vegas and was twice (junior and senior year) selected to the all-district team.

His career averages for shooting (52.3%), free throws (76.3%) and rebounding (8.3) are among the best in Utah State history.

He was drafted by both the Utah Stars (ABA) and the Seattle Supersonics (NBA) but chose to play professionally in Europe.

During his 12-year playing career, Jimmy spent 10 years in Holland and two years in France, leading teams to national championships in both countries.

He was selected "Player of the Year" in Holland in 1977, playing for the 'Arke Reizen' team in the city of Enschede. He led the country in scoring that year and the following year, while leading France's professional teams in scoring, he helped the Mullhouse team to the national championship.

Before coming to Utah State in 1971, Jimmy had twice been selected Mississippi's high school player of the year (1969-70 and 1970-71)

Jimmy was married in early-November to the former Debbie Hales.

Athletic Director

The nature of college athletics has seen monumental change as its popularity has exploded in the past decade. During that time, Athletic Director Rod Tueller has been a steady guide of the Utah State program.

"Whether you like it or not, athletics and sports is a big part of society today, from the little leagues and their various activities to the big leagues and their professionals," Tueller said. "One of our themes of athletics at Utah State is the consistency of the Aggies. I can say that as a person who has lived here essentially all his life and have seen the continuity of the program."

"I was here as a student, a patron, an employee, a coach and an administrator and I am proud of the fact that Utah State has withstood the storms nationally, locally and regionally and still has a viable product."

Now in his sixth year at the Aggie helm, Tueller continues his efforts as athletic director over the 14 sports participating at the Division I level.

Rod is one of the senior ranking members among the 10 athletic directors in the Big West Conference.

He is currently the chair of the Big West Conference Television Committee which negotiates and renegotiates the league's television contracts for all sports, in addition to football and basketball.

Tueller was recently (June, 1990) elected to a three-year term on the Executive Committee of the Division 1A Athletic Directors Association. That group is dealing with problems and issues pertinent to the major college football-playing schools in the country. They convene twice a year.

"I believe athletics has a very important and maybe even prestigious role to play within the community," Tueller said. "I would hope that the athletic department represents values, directions, goals and objectives of the various communities. I really think Utah State athletics is coming very close to doing that."

Tueller, who has spent the past three years devoting his full energies to directing the program, holds a long and illustrious career as student, coach and administrator during his years at Utah State. He spent nine years as the Aggies' head basketball coach, registering a 139-120 record and guiding his squads to a regular season title, a league tournament championship and four post-season appearances.

What makes the record all the more impressive is that he served as both head coach and athletic director for four of those nine years.

"I'm proud of the fact that Utah State athletics has been a viable part of this community whether they are winning or losing, which indicates to me that the process is valuable, the product is valuable," he said. "Athletics does have that universality of bonding everybody associated with the university - all the alumni, the boosters, faculty, staff and students."

"I also believe that athletics is extracurricular and entertainment and that all of that has to be kept in mind. It should be kept within the bounds, goals, mission and objectives of the university and should never exceed those."

Tueller became an assistant coach to Dutch Belnap at the beginning of the 1973-74 season and later became the school's 12th head coach prior to the 1979-80 season. During his 15 seasons in the Utah State coaching ranks he was involved in 423 USU games, a record for any basketball coaching figure ever at Utah State.

One of the brilliant young coaches to climb the ranks of Utah's prep game, he spent eight years (1965-73) as the head coach at Logan High, his alma mater. He continually had the Grizzlies in the state tournament, once finishing second. Prior to becoming Logan's head coach, he had spent two years there as an assistant and four years as the head man at Altamont.

Tueller was an all-state high school player who spent a year-and-a-half in Jack Gardner's program at the University of Utah before transferring to Utah State to finish his collegiate work and graduating in 1959.

"Utah State University has always been part of my life," he said. "My goal, for me personally, is to contribute to Utah State's tradition; that is all I want to do as long as I'm capable and productive."

Born in Cedar City, Tueller is active in his church and he and his wife, Valene, are parents of six children.

Administrative Staff

Dr. Kaye Hart

Assoc. Athletic Director

Leading the women's sports into the Big West in 1990-91 is Dr. Kaye Hart. Hart oversees the women's programs as Associate Athletic Director at USU.

Hart is a1965 graduate of USU. She earned her master's degree at USU in 1970 and later her PhD at the University of Utah in 1974.

One of her goals, she says, is striving for increased awareness and support of women's sports.

Hart is currently the President of the Council of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators.

Originally from Ogden, Utah, Hart returned to USU in 1982 after six-and-one-half-years as the women's athletic director at Temple University. Prior to Temple she coached at Tennessee, New Mexico State, Midwestern College, Utah, and Southern Utah State. She coached everything from badminton, and field hockey to basketball, softball and volleyball during the days of the AIAW. Dr. Hart was also the athletic director at New Mexico State and at the College of Southern Utah for three years.
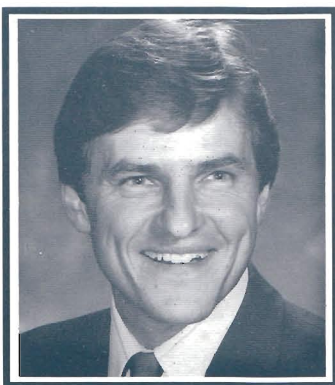

Craig Hislop

Ass't. AD/Communications

One of the senior members of the USU athletic department is Craig Hislop, 43, Assistant Athletic Director for Communications. Continuing to function as the school's Sports Information Director, this is Hislop's 19th year on the staff. In that capacity he handles information work and publications for mens sports.

Prior to assuming his current title, Hislop spent 14 years doubling as the university's SID and radio play-by-play announcer for football and basketball, winning Utah's "Sportscaster of the Year" award in 1983.

He is an active member of CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors) and the National Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association.

A 1970 USU graduate in Journalism, he was a student assistant in sports information prior to a three year stint as an assistant at the University of Utah (1969-72). He returned to the USU staff in May, 1972.

Craig is married to the former Nancy Baugh and they are parents of seven children.
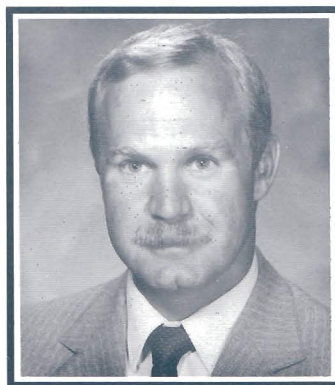

Ken Peterson

Assistant AD/Business

As Assistant Director for business matters, Ken Peterson directs the financial operations of the athletic department, including payroll, purchasing, insurance, individual sports budgets and athletic scholarships.

In his 10th year in the Athletic department, Peterson previously spent three years in the USU controller's office as the campus equipment inventory coordinator. He joined the athletic staff in August of 1980.

Peterson, 40, assists the athletic director in overall budget formulation and he supervises the athletic department's clerical staff.

Ken earned a pair of bachelor's degrees at USU, the first in Geographic Planning (1976) and then in Business Administration (1979).

A native of Spanish Fork, Utah, Peterson spent four years in the Air Force as an air cargo specialist. He and his wife, the former Chris Collins, are the parents of three children: Aaron, Ben and Kyle Ann.
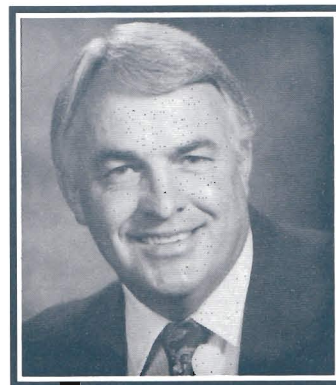

Gale Anderson

Ass't.AD/Development

As Assistant Director of Athletics in charge of Development, Anderson helps in fund raising, major gifts and special projects.

He began work in Aggie athletics five years ago after working in sales and marketing for 10 years prior to that. Anderson's goal is to improve major gifts to USU in ways of endowments.

In his first two years, Anderson was in charge of promotions as well as development. In that time he was responsible for the new scoreboard at Romney Stadium and assisted in the acquisition of the animation board in the Dee Glen Smith Spectrum.

Gale, from Milford, Utah, attended BYU on a football scholarship where he played end. He graduated in 1966 with a degree in physical education.

He was a head football coach, assistant track and assistant basketball coach for five years at the high school level in Hawaii, Southern California and Utah prior to entering the private business field.

Anderson and his wife Gwen have three boys: Keoni, Kyle and Grant.

Administrative Staff

Tom Moulton

Ticket Manager

If a person has purchased a ticket for a Utah State function for the past 34 years chances are pretty good they have talked to Tom Moulton.

A 1950 graduate of USU, Moulton has been directing Utah State's total ticket selling operation — athletics and otherwise-- for those 34 years.

In addition to directing general ticket sales from his office in the Spectrum Annex, Tom is also in charge of design and printing of USU tickets and he handles budget control and accounting responsibilities. He is also a member of the Collegiate Athletic Business Association.

Prior to coming to Utah State, Moulton was office and credit manager for Firestone Stores in Logan and Ogden.

He has been the adjutant of USU American Legion Post 12 since its formation 25-years ago.

Tom is married to the former Evva Jean Peay and they are the parents of four married children — Dale, Mardyne and twins Kathy and Karen — and 17 grandchildren.
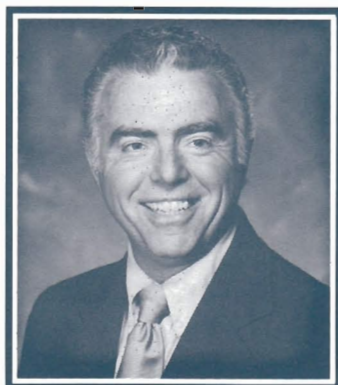

Ken Mitchell

Athlete Academic Progress Coordinator

Ken Mitchell has served USU in several capacities during the past 21 years.

For the past five years Mitchell has served as the Athlete Academic Progress Coordinator. In this capacity he monitors the registration and eligibility of both the men's and women's athletes as well as their progress towards graduation.

Mitchell, 53, also is the director of game management for both football and basketball.

Ken, 1965 graduate of BYU, first came to Utah State in 1969 as the school's sports information director. He then assumed responsibilities in the fund raising and promotions area under former athletic director Ladell Andersen. During most of that period he served as the Executive Secretary of the Big Blue Club and did that for 14 years.

A native of Bizzel Bluff, Kentucky, Mitchell is married to the former Becky Smith and they are the parents of five children: Jason, Amy, K.C, Kara and Brady. Both Jason and Amy are students at Utah State.

Dale Mildenberger

Head Trainer

For the past 15 years Aggie athletes have had the finest care possible thanks to Head Aggie Trainer Dale Mildenberger.

Mildenberger joined the staff in 1975 when he came to Logan from the University of Arizona after earning his master's degree. While at Arizona, Mildenberger was also an assistant trainer on Warren Lee's staff.

Mildenberger obtained his bachelor's degree from Colorado State. Dale interrupted his senior year to travel with the world famous Harlem Globetrotters as their trainer. His first season with the Globetrotters was in 1969-70. He then served a stint in the army as an assistant trainer at West Point, 1970-72 before rejoining the Globetrotters.

Mildenberger has been a past president of the Rocky Mountain Trainers Association and a member of the Board of Directors of the National Athletic Trainers Association. In addition to supervising a staff of assistants, Mildenberger coordinates all travel arrangements for the Aggie basketball team.
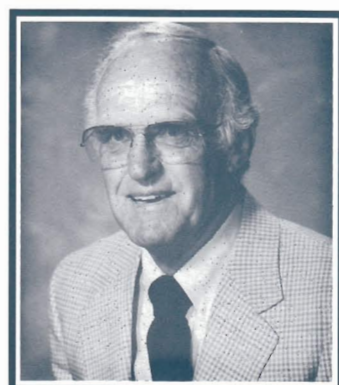

Ken Seamons

Equipment Manager

In his 24 years as the Aggie equipment manager, Ken Seamons has seen all the Aggie home basketball games and 261 consecutive USU football games, 157 on the road and 104 at home. That might be a record no one can top or will have a chance to for a long while.

Seamons describes his job as one some fans would kill to have. After all he gets a sideline/sidecourt view of every Aggie game.

He joined the Aggie staff in 1966 when Mike Carlisle retired. Ken is a member of the National Athletic Equipment Managers Association and he has served in the past as its' District Eight director. He outfits Utah State Athletes in every sport.

Ken is a veteran of three years service in the U.S Navy during World War II, He is an avid golfer. He is married to the former Joyce Beutler and they are the parents of three children: Judy, Jan and Blake.

Dave Champlin
Marketing & Promotions Director

Dave Champlin's involvement in Aggie athletics goes back to the seventh grade when he was keeping football and basketball statistics for the Big Blue Radio Network.

Since that time Champlin has served as Assistant SID(1980-83). In 1987 he was named Marketing and Promotions Director and he has also served as the Executive Director of the Big Blue Club since 1988.

As Marketing and Promotions director, Champlin, provides entertainment and fun at athletic functions and helps direct the workings of the Big Blue Club and its chapters across the country.

As a1983 graduate of USU in Journalism and Public Relations, Dave has also served as USU's Assistant Alumni Director (1985-87) where he created the Young Alumni Association and the Student Alumni Association. In 1987 USU received a Gold Medal for the most improved alumni Association in the nation.

Dave and his wife Mary are the parents of four children.

Tim Monsell
Assoc. Sports Information Director - Womens

For the past nine years, sports information for the women's side of Aggie athletics has been in the hands of Tim Monsell.

Monsell is responsible for providing information to the media and to other SID's and to the Big West office. Monsell tells the Utah State story through news releases, personal athlete profiles, media guides, and speical publications. He is also responsible for compiling and updating individual and team records and providing statistics.

A native of Bellefonte, Pennsylvania, Monsell received a B.S. in Health and Physical Education from Penn State in 1976. After a year in Vermont teaching skiing Monsell came home to direct the local YMCA gymnastics and tennis programs. In 1979 he moved to Logan, earning his Master's Degree in Education. During this time he helped coach the Aggie gymnasts as well as teaching classes in the HPER.

In 1981 he was hired as the Utah State Women's SID and interim Women's Athletic Director.
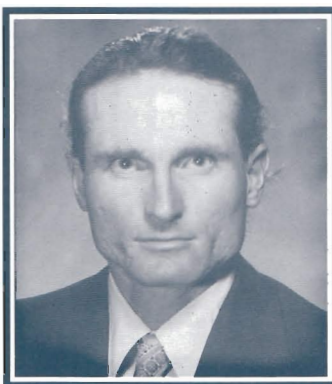

Doug Salmon
Strength Coach

Salmon, 33, is in his fourth year as the Strength Training Coordinator for Utah State's mens and womens athletic teams. He is in charge of organizing and implementing strength building programs for Aggie athletes.

Doug joined the Aggie staff in the fall of 1987 from the University of Mississippi. He had been a graduate assistant conditioning coach working with all the Ole Miss teams from 1985-87.

His professional experience also includes a stint as a parttime assistant football coach at Evansville University (1984-85). Prior to Evansville he was a graduate assistant strength coach at the University of Tennessee (1983-84), where he earned his Masters degree.

A native of Santa Barbara, CA, Doug is a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist, certified through the National Strength and Conditioning Association.

He is a 1981 graduate of Cal State-Northridge.
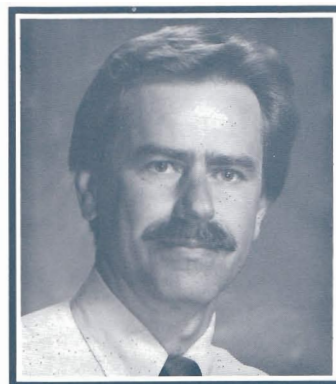

Mike Parent
Faculty Athletic Representative

A USU faculty member in his 19th year (Professor of Marketing Research and Technology Commercialization) Mike Parent also doubles as the school's Faculty Athletic Representative. Working closely with Athletic Director Rod Tueller and Associate AD Kaye Hart, Mike is involved in certifying eligibility for all student-athletes while dealing with compliance matters involving the Big West Conference and the NCAA. He is the chairman of USU's Athletic Council, a member of the Big West Council and he is responsible to report to President Cazier on all athletic matters. He has served as President of a national association, the Decision Sciences Institute and he was the recipient of that group's distinguished service award. A 1968 Fresno State graduate, he earned an MBA from Michigan State (1969) and his PhD at the University of Oregon (1972). Mike was born in the Bronx, NY and he and his wife Janis are parents of a daughter and son, Robin and Ian.

Dee Glen Smith Spectrum
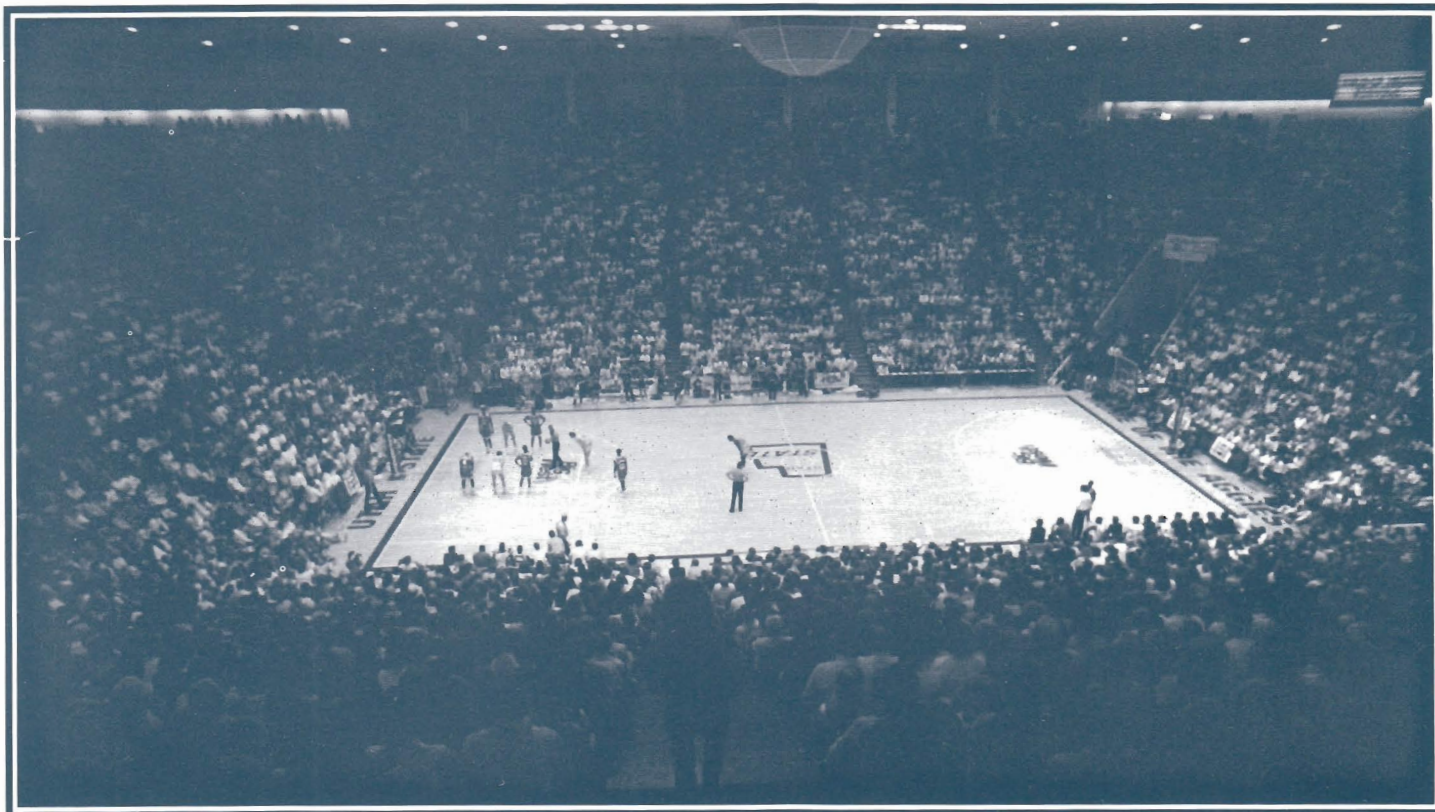

In its 21st year as home of the Aggies, the Dee Glen Smith Spectrum has gone over the 2,000,000 mark in attendance. 2,000,000 is the entire population of the Cache Valley (65,000) multiplied by 31.

An average of near 7,700 fans a game have watched the Aggies in action in 20 years since the dedication of the Spectrum, December 1, 1970 (USU defeated Ohio State, 95-89).

Dee Glen Smith

In 1988 the Spectrum's name was changed to the Dee Glen Smith Spectrum.

Brigham City native Dee Glen Smith, who built one of America's largest grocery store chains, for many years joined his wife and three sons as substanial supporters of USU. Smith died in 1984.

All three of his sons—Fred, Jeff and Richie—attended USU.

Exactly 2,106,843 fans have seen 274 games in the 20 years the Spectrum has housed Aggie basketball.

The Spectrum—one of the nation's most complete college arenas—comfortably seats 10,270 (5,000 student capacity and 3,800 season ticket availabilities). All are chair-back seats done in a pleasant color scheme of light orange, dark orange, light gold and yellow. There are 36 rows of seats completely encircling the floor.

Virtually every need common to the staging of a major college game or tournament is provided for including complete dressing room and meeting room facilities for four teams. Aggie teams use the north locker rooms and the visitors the south facilities. The teams enter the playing floor via nearby ramps.

The playing floor is permanent and is constructed of maple on a cushion, over concrete. The recently installed solid-state sound system is the most modern available with a newly engineered design and latest equipment. It replaces a 15-year old sound system. Scoreboards are installed at each end of the Spectrum. Block lighting will allow gatherings of groups from 2,500 to 7,000 to meet in compact seating arrangements.

The Smith Spectrum has been the site of special events throughout the years. Such events as Theatre in the Round, concerts and general assemblies for the USU Studentbody and the community make the facility in demand constantly.

During the mid-1970s (1974) a proposal was presented to create a trophy -- a symbol to be awarded annually to Utah's best college basketball team. The concept was accepted and for the first two years the in-state title was awarded to the Aggies, although no actual trophy had been determined.

In 1977, after Weber State won the title for the first time, an Ogden business man located a pioneer bucket at a local auction, complete with a history of how it had been found. It hs since become the traveling trophy emblematic of Utah college basketball supremacy.

USU's third-year Head coach Kohn Smith and his 1990-91 Aggies head into the season intent on returning the trophy to the Spectrum. The Aggies have posted a 28-20 record in-state the past eight years.

The bucket is named after the Oquirrh Mountains, located on the west side of the Salt Lake Valley.

Big Blue Club

Utah State's Big Blue Club — once organized as the Buck-O-Month Club — has begun a fifth decade of support for USU Athletics.

The Big Blue Club is a booster organization promoting academic and athletic achievement by providing grant-in-aid assistance to qualified men and women student-athletes seeking an education at Utah State.

Many of the roadblocks facing intercollegiate athletics today are financial. Membership in the Big Blue Club, or one of the areas of gifts to athletics, allows the coaches to offer grant-in-aid assistance to prospective student-athletes. The grant-in-aid in turn provides student-athletes the opportunity to receive a quality education at USU.

The ultimate goal of the Big Blue Club is to enrich the teams to be competitive and entertaining for students and fans. Intercollegiate teams that have maintained a competitive edge in the past have done so with the active support and encouragement of alumni and friends through private gifts.

Big Blue Club membership the past several years has increased and funds during the 1990 drive reached nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

"These days in collegiate athletics" said Athletic Director Rod Tueller, "the existence of a strong booster organization is not a luxury, it is a necessity. The Big Blue Club exists as a support arm of the athletic department, and they do a great job."

For the 1990-91 academic year, Don Sproul will serve as the president and Dave Champlin is in his second year as executive director of the Big Blue Club. The leadership of the Big Blue Club includes a Board of Directors. From the Board of Directors, as many as twelve directors are appointed to serve on the Executive Board of the Big Blue Club.

The Executive Board meets monthly for planning and review purposes. The Board of Directors meets monthly to implement plans and review projects.

Members of the Executive Board: Don Sproul, Jim Laub, Dave Champlin, Red Burnett, Jeri Garner, Max Jones, Jeanne Nielsen, Dave Williams, Dave Anderson, Kent Henderson, Jack Worthington, Claire Leishman, Dave Bodrero and Lex Baer.

Baer doubles as president of the "50-50" Club which hosts events for visiting teams and coaches.

Sproul said some of the events on the Club's calendar include the already-completed -- and very successful -- October auction, noon luncheons during the football and basketball seasons, golf tournaments, senior appreciation night and other similar events.

Also, a chapter has been formed to involve Aggies from Ogden to Provo — "The Wasatch Aggies" — and Jack Worthington will serve as president in 1990-91.

Big West Conference

1700 East Dyer Road.....Santa Ana, CA 92705.....(714) 261-2525

On July 1, 1988, the Pacific Coast Athletic Association marked the beginning of the league's 20th year by changing its name to the Big West Conference.

The name is seen as a simpler, more accurate description of the league's 11 member institutions (Cal State Fullerton, Fresno State, Long Beach State, New Mexico State, San Jose State, UC Irvine, UC Santa Barbara, Hawaii, UNLV, Pacific and Utah State.)

When the league was first formed in 1969, it consisted of seven charter members, all of which were located in the state of California. As the league enters its 22nd season, the conference has expanded to include universities from states which are not on or near the Pacific coast (Utah, Nevada and New Mexico).

In its first 22 seasons, the Big West Conference has made numerous positive strides.

In past seasons highlights have included UNLV's 1990 NCAA basketball title and the 1987 NCAA basketball championships when, for the first time ever, the conference had a representative in both the men's (UNLV) and the women's (Long Beach State) Final Four.

The Big West Conference office is headed by third year commissioner Jim Haney. Haney is only the third fulltime commissioner in the history of the conference. He succeeded Lew Cryer, who guided the conference through 10 years of expansion and growth. Jesse Hill was named the first fulltime commissioner of the league, January of 1972.
